DID YOU KNOW? Devoting just 15 minutes per day to an exercise routine at home can increase your distance and help you play better golf. Just because you're at home doesn't mean you can't workout, check out these at-home exercises to improve your golf game.

- Stretch: Flexibility is extremely important for your golf swing, tightness in the shoulders, back, hips and legs can restrict the extension of the club as you swing.
- Split Squat: This is a lower-body exercise that works on mobility, stability and strength.
- Push-ups: Push-ups can be really beneficial for your upper body strength and for your golf swing.
- Front and Side Plank: Planks help to activate your core muscles, which promote stability and strength in the abdomen.

Fun Golf Lessons at Home!

Check out these fun drills and lessons that will help you sharpen your game!

Drill 1: Putt to a card or sticky note

- Instructions: Grab a playing card or a sticky note and place it on the floor or carpet, 3 ft., 6 ft., 9 ft. or 12 ft. away from your start line. Now, putt the golf ball with enough speed and distance that it stops on top of the card or sticky note. If the ball touches it and goes past it, try again until it lands on your target.

Drill 2: Golf Putting Stance Practice

- Instructions: Set your putter next to the couch. During commercial breaks while your watching TV, stand up and work on the proper putting stance set up. Doing this for 15 minutes per day will build muscle memory creating good habit. You will subtly improve your putting stroke while watching TV.

Drill 3: Putting to a tee

- Instructions: Set up a golf tee so its upside down. Starting 3 ft. away, putt a ball to the tee trying to knock it over. Then move back to 4 ft., 5 ft., and so on. Try to work your way back to 20 ft. away and still be able to knock the tee over.
