Participant Corner

This summer, three of our amazing First Tee - GVR participants attended two of First Tee's National Opportunities. Emma Stavelly, Jack Clark, and Adelyn Westfall were all hand picked to go on these amazing adventures! Here's what they had to say about their experiences:

Emma Stavelly: "The leadership events: First Tee Game Changers Academy in Minnesota & the First Tee Leadership Summit in Montana, are incredible opportunities for young people with growing minds and golf games. During the events, a select group of kids from across the country are given the chance to step out of their comfort zone, engage in new activities, and make incredible bonds. Throughout my time at both events, I was able to dive deeper into what it actually means to have a positive self identity. Then, through a series of outdoor team-building & reflective sessions, I was tasked with using that chosen identity to form truly authentic relationships, with other kids my age. I was pushed to explore a world of new possibilities with other young leaders. I had an amazing time exploring a new side of myself and made incredible memories with new, lifelong friends."

Jack Clark: "I was a participant of the First Tee Leadership Summit held in West Creek Ranch, Montana. It was an experience I will never forget, I was very nervous and anxious to be completely honest. However the summit was well worth everything. I learned a lot about myself, I met new friends, and I was inspired. If I had the opportunity to do it again tomorrow, I would say yes in a heartbeat."

Donor Spotlight

Sherman Brown IV

Sherman Brown IV has been a dedicated supporter of the Colorado Open Golf Foundation since 2015, contributing both his time and resources. Coming from a distinguished lineage of achievers, Sherman proudly upholds his family's legacy. His great-great-grandfather, Henry C. Brown, not only built the iconic Brown Palace but also generously donated 10 acres of land to the state, which now houses the Colorado State Capitol Building. His other great-great-grandfather was Adolph Coors, founder of Adolph Coors Company, in Golden, CO.

Over the past decade, Sherm has contributed more than $75,000 to the Colorado Open Golf Foundation and remains deeply involved in several key initiatives. In addition to supporting the endowment fund, he was instrumental in increasing the purse for the Colorado Women's Open in 2017. Today, the women compete for $250,000—the largest purse for any state open in the country. Sherm also regularly participates in the Colorado Women's Open Pro-Am, sporting his signature crazy and colorful pants that never fail to turn heads.

Sherm's commitment to the Colorado Open Golf Foundation and the game of golf reflects his passion for giving back and creating opportunities for others. His efforts to grow the Colorado Women's Open, along with his personal contributions, have made a lasting impact on the foundation and the community. Whether through his generous donations or his vibrant presence on the course, Sherm continues to leave a meaningful mark on Colorado golf, ensuring that his family's legacy of generosity and leadership lives on.
